Dear Distributor,

We have completed our annual product price review. The revised 2008 Distributor Price List is attached. These prices are effective as of April 17, 2008.

As you are probably aware, a number of factors are impacting the United States economy. Most of us feel the impact of ever increasing oil prices each time we put fuel in our cars. Increasing energy costs have a direct impact on our products. Not only are transportation costs of products and raw materials increasing, but also the energy cost for production process itself continues to rise. In the financial markets, the U.S. Dollar has weakened relative to foreign currencies. This means that it costs more U.S. Dollars today to buy many foreign sourced materials and products.

For 2008, the overall price adjustment for GNLD products is 3.75%. While this adjustment is higher than recent years, we were able to keep our adjustment below the Consumer Price Index increase of 4.1%. Individual product price adjustments varied, however, 37 of our top selling products were under 3% and the largest price adjustment is with our Nutriance line due to the overseas manufacturing. Product specific costs impacted individual adjustments; for example the protein supplements were affected by raw material costs.

We are very conscious of the impact a price increase has on your business. We constantly review our costs in an attempt to keep these adjustments to a minimum while continuing to supply the superior product you expect.

We appreciate your dedication to the business and wish you great success in the coming year.

Your GNLD Support Team
